Collection Summary

Call No.: D785.U63

Title: United States Strategic Bombing Survey: [Reports] (Pacific War)

Span Dates: 1945-1947

Extent: 109 items

Language: Collection material in English

Creator: United States Strategic Bombing Survey (Series) (Pacific war)

Location: Science Section, Researcher Engagement and General Collections Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

LC Catalog record: <https://lccn.loc.gov/47024345>

Summary: During World War II, the United States undertook massive aerial attacks against cities and industrial areas in the Pacific Theater of Operations (PTO) to destroy Japanese military forces. After the surrender of Japan on August 15, 1945, the United States Strategic Bombing Survey (USSBS) was ordered by President Harry S. Truman to study the effects of this strategic bombing in the Pacific. Organized in November 1944, the USSBS was assigned two tasks: to establish a basis for evaluating the importance and potential of air power as an instrument of military strategy, and to plan the future development of the armed forces. The USSBS conducted surveys in both Europe (European War reports) and the Pacific (Pacific War reports).
