Organizational History

The National Men's Chorus was a performing group from Washington, D.C. founded in June 1999 by its artistic director, Thomas Beveridge, and active in the years 1999-2018. They performed at many venues in the D.C. Metropolitan area such as the Library of Congress, the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the National Gallery of Art, the Cosmos Club, and many churches including the Church of the Annunciation in Washington D.C., the Providence Presbyterian Church in Fairfax, Virginia, and the First Christian Church in Bailey's Crossroads, Virginia. They were also invited to perform at the dedication of the new George Mason Memorial on the Mall. The Chorus's annual Memorial Day concert was a popular draw in the capital area.
