Collection Summary

Title: Charles Albert Browne Papers
Inclusive Dates: 1783-1947
Bulk Dates: 1909-1945
ID No.: MSS14134
Creator: Browne, Charles Albert, 1870-1947
Extent: 20,000 items
Extent: 36 containers plus 2 oversize
Extent: 14.5 linear feet
Language: Collection material in English
Location: Manuscript Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.
LC Catalog record: https://lccn.loc.gov/mm78014134
Summary: Chemist, food technologist, and historian of science. Correspondence, writings, accounts of foreign travel, autographs of past luminaries, and research material relating primarily Browne's work in the history of chemistry and agriculture.

Acquisition Information

The papers of Charles Albert Brown, chemist, food technologist, and historian of science, were given to the Library of Congress by Browne in 1939 and by his widow, Louise McDanell Browne, in 1948.

Processing History

The papers of Charles Albert Browne were preliminarily processed in 1949. The collection was reorganized and described in 2008 by Nicholas Newlin. The finding aid was revised in 2012.

Copyright Status

The status of copyright in the unpublished writings of Charles Albert Brown is governed by the Copyright Law of the United States (Title 17, U.S.C.).

Access and Restrictions

The papers of Charles Albert Browne are open to research. Researchers are advised to contact the Manuscript Reading Room prior to visiting. Many collections are stored off-site and advance notice is needed to retrieve these items for research use.

Preferred Citation

Researchers wishing to cite this collection should include the following information: Container number, Charles Albert Browne Papers, Manuscript Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

Scope and Content Note

The papers of Charles Albert Browne (1870-1947) span the years 1783-1947, with the bulk of the material from 1909 to 1945. Much of the collection relates to his career at the New York Sugar Trade Laboratory and the United States Department of Agriculture. The papers include correspondence, writings and travel diaries, and research material related to the history of chemistry. As head chemist of the New York Sugar Trade Laboratory, Browne tested sugar purity for commercial producers and purchasers, and at the Agriculture Department he was engaged in sugar research and laboratory administration. The papers are arranged in four series: Correspondence , Subject File , Writings File , and Oversize .

The Correspondence file pertains largely to technical or professional issues. Reference is often made to laboratory operation and equipment, particularly saccharometers. Also included is dialogue concerning professional conferences, chemistry education, and the historical role of chemistry in agricultural science, as well as correspondence with editors of scientific journals. Many of Browne's correspondents wrote to find references or library materials relating to the history of chemistry and to thank him for reprints of articles. Many also wrote to inquire about positions during the retrenchment of the economic depression in the 1930s. Among the correspondents are Maurice Bird, Charles E. Coates, Rudolf E. Grotkass, Sir John Burchmore Harrison, Arthur Becket Lamb, Lyman C. Newell, and Henry E. Niese.

A grouping of special correspondence in the Correspondence series consists of letters from individuals with whom Browne kept closer contact. Many were classmates at Williams College, colleagues from Pennsylvania State College, or from abroad. Included is correspondence with Noël Deerr, Edmund O. von Lippmann, Edgar Fahs Smith, George Sarton, and B. Tollens, as well as letters to and from family members.

The Subject File includes autographs that Browne collected, documentation relating to professional organizations, historical committees, conference arrangements, and the establishment of scientific museums. Research material is largely in the form of photostats. Included are files relating to such pioneers of chemistry as Joseph Priestley, Evan Pugh, Norbert Rillieux, and John Winthrop. Browne's *History of the New York Sugar Trade Laboratory*is in the Writings File . Photographs and correspondence related to the laboratory are in the Subject File . Also in the Subject File is material concerning the American Chemical Society, the History of Science Society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Browne's interest in museums and scientific collections, such as those of Morris Loeb, Joseph Priestley, and Edgar Fahs Smith, is evident in correspondence with curators. Also, Browne maintained an ongoing dialogue with the Massachusetts Historical Society. An autograph file consists of manuscript letters of prominent authors, military and elected officials, and natural philosophers in America and abroad. They include Louis Agassiz, Jean Le Rond d'Alembert, Henri Becquerel, Sophia Bryant, Sir Charles Lyell, George Brinton McClellan, Elwyn Waller.

In the Writings File are travel diaries and laboratory journals containing personal and aesthetic commentary. The galley proofs of Browne's book on Thomas Jefferson are included, as are illustrations for his publication on the operation of sugar laboratories, A Handbook of Sugar Analysis. Also included are articles about the development of the sugar industry in the United States, Latin America, and the South Pacific. Several articles review the contributions of Justus Liebig, Edgar Fahs Smith, and John Winthrop. Browne authored obituaries for many of his contemporary chemists, which are filed by name of person in the Writings File and in the Correspondence . Browne's meticulous documentation of his international travels comprise a good part of the Writings File and include both a subject and person index. The journals, originally bound with the title “laboratory journals,” span the years 1919-1923 and reveal Browne's thoughts about colleagues in the sugar industry.

Arrangement of the Papers

The collection is arranged in four series:

- Correspondence, 1888-1947
- Subject File, 1783-1947
- Writings File, 1909-1947
- Oversize, 1783-1940

Description of Series

Container	Series
BOX 1-27	Correspondence, 1888-1947 General, post-retirement, and special correspondence. Includes professional, personal, and literary contacts of Browne. Arranged alphabetically by name of person and therein chronologically.
BOX 27-32	Subject File, 1783-1947 Committee reports, conference and publication arrangements, correspondence, autograph file, lecture notes, photographs, printed matter, and research material. Arranged alphabetically by topic, type of material, or name of person or organization and therein chronologically.
BOX 32-36	Writings File, 1909-1947 Articles, book galleys and proofs, journals, notes, travel recollections, and research material. Arranged alphabetically by type of writing or topic and therein chronologically.
BOX OV 1-OV 2	Oversize, 1783-1940 Autographs, a certificate, and printed matter. Arranged and described according to the series, containers, and folders from which the items were removed.
