Biographical Note

Jean Baptiste Charles Henri Hector, comte d'Estaing, marquis de Saillans (1729-1794), was a vice admiral in the French navy and senior naval officer during the American Revolutionary War. He was born on November 24, 1729, in Auvergne, France, and in 1746 married Marie Sophie Rousselet de Crozon de Châteaurenauld, the granddaughter of François-Louis Rousselet, marquis de Châteaurenauld. In 1778, d'Estaing led a contingent of French forces to aid the American colonists and participated in the Siege of Savannah in September, 1779. After returning to France in 1780, d'Estaing supported the revolutionaries during the French Revolution, but personal loyalty to the French royal family ultimately led to his execution on April 28, 1794.
Scope and Content Note

The papers of Charles Henri, comte d'Estaing, span the years 1778-2006, with the bulk of the material dating from 1778 to 1779, primarily relating to d'Estaing’s participation in the American Revolutionary War.

A handwritten notebook chronicles d’Estaing’s naval involvement in the American Revolutionary War in 1779, including the Siege of Savannah, Georgia, with General Benjamin Lincoln in September 1779. Two letters written by d’Estaing to George Washington, on September 5 and November 8, 1778, describe relations between America and France, military tactics and the defense of Boston, Massachusetts, British military strategy, and the preparedness and strength of the American and French naval forces. The collection also includes an illustrated document, circa 1778, which pictures a key to American naval signal flags, as well as two color photographs, taken in 2006, of unidentified portraits of d’Estaing.
