Summary: Sherry Sherrod DuPree, collector, historian, and librarian. Printed matter, brochures, programs, writings, research files, correspondence, and digital files detailing DuPree's efforts to document the history of the African American Pentecostal church, especially the Church of God in Christ, and to preserve the stories, memories, experiences, and activities of the African American community in Florida and, more broadly, the southern United States.

Acquisition Information

The DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection was given to the Library of Congress by Sherry Sherrod DuPree, the collector, in 2019.

Processing History

The DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection was arranged and described by Colleen Benoit Kim with the assistance of Tracey Barton, Lanai Huddleston, Elizabeth Livesey, Kathleen O'Neill, and Tammi Taylor in 2021. The collection arrived at the Library minimally organized and with limited description in 2019. The collection's order was entirely imposed by the archivists to improve its navigation.

Digital files were received as part of the DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection on a variety of storage media, primarily CDs, DVDs, and floppy disks. Each piece of media was assigned a unique digital ID number. Use the digital ID number to request access copies of the files associated with each media. A description of the standard processes taken on all born digital records can be found in the Processing History Note: Born Digital Collection Material at <https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mss/eadmss.digital>.

Transfers

Video and audio cassettes featuring sermons and church activities, especially from the Williams Temple Church of God in Christ in Gainesville, Florida, and gospel music recordings have been transferred to the Motion Picture, Broadcasting, and Recorded Sound Division where they are identified as part of the DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection.

Other Repositories

Additional collections regarding African American Pentecostal church history assembled by Sherry Sherrod DuPree can be found at the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, The New York Public Library, under the title "African-American Pentecostal and Holiness Collection" and at the Anacostia Community Museum Archives, Smithsonian Institution, under the title "Sherry Sherrod DuPree Collection on the African-American Holiness and Pentecostal Movements."

Copyright Status

Copyright in the unpublished writings of Sherry Sherrod DuPree in these papers and in other collections in the custody of the Library of Congress is reserved. Consult reference staff in the Manuscript Division for further information.

Access and Restrictions

The DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection is open to research. Researchers are advised to contact the Manuscript Division prior to visiting in order to determine whether the desired materials will be available at that time. Access to digital content is available onsite only in the Manuscript Reading Room and requires advanced notice. Researchers are advised to contact the Manuscript Reading Room prior to visiting.

Certain restrictions to use or copying of materials may apply.

Technical Requirements

Digital files were created in a Windows operating system, version is unknown. Content is primarily video files in .VOB format and audio files in .wav format. Image files in .jpeg and tiff format and text files in .doc, .pdf, and .txt also are included.

Preferred Citation

Researchers wishing to cite this collection should include the following information: Container or digital ID number, DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection, Manuscript Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

Scope and Content Note

The DuPree African American Pentecostal Collection spans the years 1861-2020, with the bulk of the material dating from 1980 to 2010. The collection reflects the collecting efforts of historian and librarian Sherry Sherrod DuPree, and her interests in preserving and documenting many aspects of African American religious and cultural history, especially regarding the history of the Pentecostal Church and the African American community in the American South and Florida specifically. The collection is organized into four series: African American Christian Organizations, African American History and Culture, DuPree Personal File, and Oversize.

The collection documents DuPree's efforts to preserve and promote African American religious and cultural history chief among them, the practices of the African American Pentecostal Church and the activities of Pentecostal and Holiness congregations across the southern United States, as well as those of other African American Christian denominations. The collection comprises material DuPree actively solicited from church members and material she created or collected directly in the course of her own research and scholarship. The collection has a particular emphasis on the Church of God in Christ (COGIC) and documents many COGIC congregations and nearly one hundred years of COGIC conventions. In addition to aspects of African American religious history, the collection also broadly documents African American history in the Gainesville, Florida, area and wider Alachua County and Levy County vicinity and chronicles DuPree's work to preserve the stories, memories, and experiences of otherwise hidden members of the African American community in which she lived. This includes DuPree's successful efforts to establish Rosewood, Florida, as a Florida Heritage Landmark site in memory of the Rosewood massacre of 1923, her work to record the contributions of enslaved people and African American laborers on the Dudley Farm in Newberry, Florida, and to promote tourism of Black historic sites across Florida and the American South. The digital content in the collection is particularly robust and includes several oral history interviews with survivors of the Rosewood massacre, oral histories recorded as part of the University of Florida's Samuel Proctor Oral History Program, and many sermons, prayers, and gospel music pieces. Researchers should note that as DuPree's areas of interest and activity were varied, so too is the collection's content.

The collection's series are listed and briefly described below. A fuller description of each series and a list of its contents can be accessed in the series descriptions within the container list.

The African American Christian Organizations series comprises religious ephemera, publications, and reference materials collected by DuPree for use in projects related to the history of African American Christian religious life.

The African American History and Culture series contains material largely related to DuPree's activities and efforts to document and promote African American history in the Gainesville, Florida, area and southern United States.

The DuPree Personal File contains material related to DuPree's family history and genealogy, her professional career as a librarian, and her many speaking engagements and lectures.

The remaining series contains Oversize material.

Arrangement of the Papers

Description of Series

Container
BOX 1-35

Series
African American Christian Organizations, 1911-2020

The African American Christian Organizations series comprises religious ephemera, publications, and reference materials collected by DuPree for use in projects related to the history of African American Christian religious life. The majority of this series pertains to individual church congregations, most of which are Pentecostal or Holiness churches, but a large number of Baptist, Methodist, or other predominately African American denominations also are represented. The vast majority of these congregations are located across the American South and in Florida specifically. Of particular note within the Congregations grouping are the large volume of church service and funeral programs, of which Church of God in Christ congregations are heavily represented. The Conventions grouping chiefly contains convention, conference, and annual meeting programs and related promotional materials, and pertain to broader denominations or other religious associations, of which the Church of God in Christ is similarly well represented. The Publications grouping includes denominational newsletters, and pamphlets, as well as more general religious newspapers and periodicals, largely from the American South. Reference materials are chiefly published and unpublished secondary sources related to the history of specific denominations, religious figures, or significant events, with particular emphasis on the history of African American women in the church. A smaller amount of materials document the work of religious educational programs and schools, as well as local, regional, national, and international ministry organizations. Many writings and projects DuPree conducted on the topics of the Pentecostal Holiness movement and prominent church leaders also are included in this series.

Material types include audio files, video files, word document files, pamphlets, flyers, brochures, correspondence, church bulletins, church service programs, funeral programs, sermons, prayers, clippings, meeting minutes, notes, photographs, publications, and conference, convention, and meeting programs. A relatively small number of objects also are found in this series; most of which are commemorative buttons, ribbons, tote bags, and other ephemera created for particular conventions or celebrations.

Arranged alphabetically by material type or topic. File structure of the digital content maintained as received.

BOX 36-67

African American History and Culture File, 1892-2019

The African American History and Culture series contains material largely related to DuPree's activities and efforts to document and promote African American history in the Gainesville, Florida, area and southern United States. The series heavily documents DuPree's work to preserve the stories, memories, and experiences of otherwise hidden members of the African American community in which she lived. Oral history interviews with survivors, tour itineraries, brochures, photographs, documentary films and video files, and clippings document DuPree's work to establish Rosewood, Florida, as a Florida Heritage Landmark site in memory of the Rosewood massacre of 1923. Research files, including census, marriage, and deed records, project reports, photographs, and oral history interview transcripts, document DuPree's work to chronicle the lives and contributions of enslaved people and laborers on the Dudley Farm in Newberry, Florida. Conference programs, interviews with conference panelists, photographs, video files, African American heritage tour programs, and itineraries relate to DuPree's involvement in the UNESCO Transatlantic Slave Trade, Florida Center. Finally, oral history video and audio files as recorded by the University of Florida's Samuel Proctor Oral History Program document Black community members' memories of the Civil Rights Movement, integration, and the inauguration of President Barack Obama. DuPree's interest and research into gospel music also features prominently in this series. Sheet music, songbooks, audio files, writings and lectures prepared by DuPree, as well as material related to an exhibit she curated also are included. Finally, several files related to tourism of Black historic sites, cultural institutions, businesses, events, and festivals are included in this series and are organized by geographical location.

Material types include audio files, video files, brochures, photographs, printed matter, writings, lectures, songbooks, sheet music, hand fans, clippings, periodicals, and research material.

Arranged alphabetically by material type or topic. File structure of the digital content maintained as received.

BOX 67-75

DuPree Personal File, 1861-2019

The DuPree Personal File contains material related to DuPree's family history and genealogy, her professional career as a librarian, and her many speaking engagements and lectures. DuPree's family papers make up the bulk of this series and include material collected or created by her husband, Herbert C. DuPree, children, parents, especially her mother, Mary Elouise Sherrod, siblings, and other relatives. Also of note in this series is a small group of papers detailing the activities of Idella Taylor Hall, a prominent member of the Williams Temple Church of God in Christ in Gainesville, Florida, and her involvement in the Court of Calanthe, Golden Star No. 613, an African American women-run fraternal organization. DuPree's pursuits as a professional are well-documented in this series and include correspondence, conference materials, syllabi and course materials for courses she taught at Santa Fe Community College, Gainesville, Florida, brochures and posters advertising her lectures and speaking engagements, clippings detailing her work as a librarian and historian, as well as material documenting Displays for Schools, LLC, a business she founded. Digital files in this series include images, text documents, and HTML files for informational websites DuPree created, and an oral history interview recorded in 2011. Computer backup files also are found in this series and include many image files, text documents, and PowerPoint presentations DuPree prepared for her various professional endeavors including her work with Rosewood, Florida, Santa Fe Community College, Displays for Schools, LLC, among other writings. Writing files presumably created by Herbert C. DuPree as well as DuPree's sons are also represented. Researchers should note that DuPree's many writings and projects are included in the African American Christian Organizations series and African American History and Culture series and are organized according to the topic they address.

Material types include correspondence, brochures, clippings, text document files, JPEG image files, video files, and printed matter.

Arranged alphabetically by material type or topic. File structure of the digital content maintained as received.

BOX OV 1- OV 17

Oversize, 1861-2019

Material types include posters, photographs, periodicals, newspapers, sheet music, calendars, and handkerchiefs.

Listed and described according to the series, containers, and folders from which the material was separated. The items are physically grouped and housed by size.

African American History and Culture File, 1892-2019

The African American History and Culture series contains material largely related to DuPree's activities and efforts to document and promote African American history in the Gainesville, Florida, area and southern United States. The series heavily documents DuPree's work to preserve the stories, memories, and experiences of otherwise hidden members of the African American community in which she lived. Oral history interviews with survivors, tour itineraries, brochures, photographs, documentary films and video files, and clippings document DuPree's work to establish Rosewood, Florida, as a Florida Heritage Landmark site in memory of the Rosewood massacre of 1923. Research files, including census, marriage, and deed records, project reports, photographs, and oral history interview transcripts, document DuPree's work to chronicle the lives and contributions of enslaved people and laborers on the Dudley Farm in Newberry, Florida. Conference programs, interviews with conference panelists, photographs, video files, African American heritage tour programs, and itineraries relate to DuPree's involvement in the UNESCO Transatlantic Slave Trade, Florida Center. Finally, oral history video and audio files as recorded by the University of Florida's Samuel Proctor Oral History Program document Black community members' memories of the Civil Rights Movement, integration, and the inauguration of President Barack Obama. DuPree's interest and research into gospel music also features prominently in this series. Sheet music, songbooks, audio files, writings and lectures prepared by DuPree, as well as material related to an exhibit she curated also are included. Finally, several files related to tourism of Black historic sites, cultural institutions, businesses, events, and festivals are included in this series and are organized by geographical location.

Material types include audio files, video files, brochures, photographs, printed matter, writings, lectures, songbooks, sheet music, hand fans, clippings, periodicals, and research material.

Arranged alphabetically by material type or topic. File structure of the digital content maintained as received.

BOX 67-75	DuPree Personal File, 1861-2019 The DuPree Personal File contains material related to DuPree's family history and genealogy, her professional career as a librarian, and her many speaking engagements and lectures. DuPree's family papers make up the bulk of this series and include material collected or created by her husband, Herbert C. DuPree, children, parents, especially her mother, Mary Elouise Sherrod, siblings, and other relatives. Also of note in this series is a small group of papers detailing the activities of Idella Taylor Hall, a prominent member of the Williams Temple Church of God in Christ in Gainesville, Florida, and her involvement in the Court of Calanthe, Golden Star No. 613, an African American women-run fraternal organization. DuPree's pursuits as a professional are well-documented in this series and include correspondence, conference materials, syllabi and course materials for courses she taught at Santa Fe Community College, Gainesville, Florida, brochures and posters advertising her lectures and speaking engagements, clippings detailing her work as a librarian and historian, as well as material documenting Displays for Schools, LLC, a business she founded. Digital files in this series include images, text documents, and HTML files for informational websites DuPree created, and an oral history interview recorded in 2011. Computer backup files also are found in this series and include many image files, text documents, and PowerPoint presentations DuPree prepared for her various professional endeavors including her work with Rosewood, Florida, Santa Fe Community College, Displays for Schools, LLC, among other writings. Writing files presumably created by Herbert C. DuPree as well as DuPree's sons are also represented. Researchers should note that DuPree's many writings and projects are included in the African American Christian Organizations series and African American History and Culture series and are organized according to the topic they address. Material types include correspondence, brochures, clippings, text document files, JPEG image files, video files, and printed matter. Arranged alphabetically by material type or topic. File structure of the digital content maintained as received.
