Provenance

Gift; Sara Henderson Hay Lopatnikoff; 1977 and 1981.

Music manuscripts; Gift; Nikolai Lopatnikoff; 1967-1968.

Custodial History

Nikolai Lopatnikoff signed a deposit agreement with the Library of Congress in 1967, and subsequently converted his music manuscripts to gifts in 1967 and 1968. The bulk of the Lopatnikoff Collection came to the Library in 1977, the year following the composer's death, and in 1981 through a gift from his widow, Sara Henderson Hay Lopatnikoff. Brief inventories of the music materials were prepared at the time of acquisition.

Accruals

No further accruals are expected.

Processing History

The Nikolai Lopatnikoff Collection was processed in 1994 (revised December 2002) by Kevin LaVine. The original finding aid was prepared with Corel WordPerfect 8. In 2005 the Nikolai Lopatnikoff Collection finding aid was coded for EAD format by Michael A. Ferrando.

Transfers

A piano roll has been transferred to the Motion Picture, Broadcasting and Recorded Sound Division of the Library of Congress where it is identified as part of the Nikolai Lopatnikoff Collection (MAVIS collection no. 17486). An inventory of this material is available in the Music Division's collection file.

Related Material

The present inventory of Lopatnikoff's compositions is arranged chronologically by opus number, following the order presented in William Critser's unpublished catalog, The Compositions of Nikolai Lopatnikoff, compiled in 1979. A copy of this catalog, along with other material related to the acquisition of the collection, is filed in the Music Division's Lopatnikoff Special Collection Case File.

The material originally donated to the Library in 1967 and 1968, and cataloged at that time in the ML96 and ML96.5 classes of the Music Division's general collections, has been included in this finding aid for the sake of completeness, while not formally a part of the special collection addressed by this inventory.

Copyright Status

The status of copyright on the materials of the Nikolai Lopatnikoff Collection is governed by the Copyright Law of the United States (Title 17, U.S.C.).

Access and Restrictions

The Nikolai Lopatnikoff Collection is open to research. Researchers are advised to contact the Performing Arts Reading Room prior to visiting. Many collections are stored off-site and advance notice is needed to retrieve these items for research use.

Certain restrictions to use or copying of materials may apply.

Preferred Citation

Biographical Note

Date	Event
1903, Mar. 16	Nikolai [Nikolai] Lvovich Lopatnikoff is born in Reval, Russia (now Tallinn, Estonia), the youngest of four children of Leo Lopatnikoff and Ida Feitelberg.
1907 (circa)	The Lopatnikoff family moves to St. Petersburg, Russia, where Nikolai begins his musical studies in piano and theory at the Conservatory.
1917 Nov.	The family moves to Helsinki, Finland, following the Russian Revolution. Nikolai attends high school there, and continues his theory studies with Erik Furuhjelm.
1920	The family moves to Heidelberg, Germany, where Nikolai continues his musical studies with Hermann Grabner.
1921	Begins private studies in composition with Ernst Toch and Willy Rehberg in Mannheim, Germany.
1923, May 16	Enrolls at the Badische Technische Hochschule in Karlsruhe, Germany, to begin civil engineering studies.
1925, Nov. 3	Première of Concerto no. 1 for piano and orchestra in Cologne, Germany, with Hans Bruch as soloist.
1926	Marries Eleanore Lashchinsky in Strasbourg, France. The couple settles in Karlsruhe.
1927, June 28	Graduates from the Badische Technische Hochschule; however, after his first compositions meet with critical acclaim, he decides to concentrate on a career in music. He begins concertizing throughout Europe as a pianist.
1927	Meets Serge Koussevitzky through Aaron Copland at a music festival in Baden-Baden, Germany, at which the Scherzo and Toccata for mechanical piano is performed. Koussevitzky commissions an arrangement of the Scherzo to be performed by the Boston Symphony Orchestra the following year.
1928	Moves to Berlin.
1929, Jan. 9	Première of Symphony no. 1 in Karlsruhe. Later this year Lopatnikoff is awarded the Belaïeff Prize in Paris for his String Quartet no. 2 . Begins contributing articles to Modern Music magazine, which continues until 1937.
1930	Awarded Reichs-Rundfunk Gesellschaft prize for Symphony no. 1 . The work is included in the Philadelphia Orchestra's concert tour repertoire.
1931-1932	Composition of the opera Danton , to be premiered simultaneously in Cologne and Zürich in 1933, but cancelled due to the ascent to power of the Nazi regime.
1936	Moves to London. Begins teaching privately and arranging music for the BBC.
1939	Moves to the United States and settles in New York.
1943	Revised version of Opus Sinfonicum (1942; first version, 1933) wins first prize at this year's Cleveland Orchestra competition.

1944	Becomes an American citizen. Awarded a Serge Koussevitzky Music Foundation commission for his Concertino . Holds teaching positions at the Hartt College of Music in Hartford, Connecticut, and at the Westchester Conservatory in White Plains, New York.
1945, July 22	Eleanore Lashchinsky Lopatnikoff dies.
1945 Sept.	Accepts a teaching position on the music faculty of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, later Carnegie-Mellon University, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
1948	Spends the summer at the MacDowell Colony in Peterborough, New Hampshire, the first of a ten-year summer residence.
1950	Meets the American poet Sara Henderson Hay at the MacDowell Colony. They are married the following year on January 27 in New York.
1963	Elected to membership in the National Institute of Arts and Letters.
1969	Retires from his professorship at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.
1976, Mar. 26	Première of last completed work, Melting-Pot , commissioned by the Indianapolis Ballet, in Indianapolis.
1976, Oct. 7	Dies from congestive heart failure at his home in Pittsburgh.

Scope and Content Note

The works and writings of Nikolai Lopatnikoff (1903-1976), composer, pianist and teacher, reflect a profound understanding of musical aesthetics and of twentieth century trends in music. Although less widely performed today, Lopatnikoff's musical works were well received by critics and public alike during his lifetime. Incorporating elements of various contemporary styles, Lopatnikoff forged a musical language characterized by a constantly shifting tonality, motivic development and a concise, tightly-woven structure, at once infused with a profoundly Russian emotional quality.

The variety of material contained in this collection accurately reflects both the composer's many interests as well as his historical position within twentieth century music. The farthest-reaching events of this century provided a background against which Lopatnikoff's entire life unfolded. Born in pre-revolutionary Russia, the Lopatnikoff family left their native Russia in 1917 upon the overthrow of the tsarist regime. The composer received his primary musical education in the climate of artistic and intellectual freedom which thrived in post- World War I Germany. Lopatnikoff's career, like European culture of that era as a whole, was cut short at its apex by the rise to power of the Nazi party.

Lopatnikoff was once again forced to flee due to political upheaval, this time eventually settling in the United States. He became an American citizen at the height of the second World War, and found himself among the ranks of the many émigré artists who arrived in this country under circumstances similar to his own. These artists brought a wealth of cultural and aesthetic viewpoints, thereby contributing significantly to the creation of a multi-faceted and uniquely "American" music.

Lopatnikoff eventually directed his creative energies into education; the collection contains a fascinating array of writings on varied topics designed for teaching and publication. Study of Lopatnikoff's musical works, writings on music history and theory, and correspondence with some of the most respected musicians of this century offers us a unique perspective on the development of twentieth century music as seen through the eyes of a keenly insightful composer and musician.

Kevin LaVine, April 1994 (revised December 2002).

Correspondence

The Correspondence series consists of letters received by Nikolai Lopatnikoff.

Key to codes used in this inventory:

Correspondence of NL has been separated by subject (according to the practice set forth by NL in in the filing of his own materials: general correspondence was filed separately from correspondence relating to his opera Danton); the following codes indicate both subject and location:

- G = NL's general correspondence (Box 19);
- D = Correspondence relating to NL's Danton, op. 20, opera in 3 acts, 10 scenes. This material was originally filed together by NL (Box 20);
- B = Correspondence and materials relating to Backstage of the Soul, a projected opera (Box 21);
- C = Correspondence and materials relating to NL's Concerto, op. 26, for violin and orchestra (Box 8).

Correspondence of NL also appears in the following Special Collections in the Music Division of the Library of Congress: Copland Collection, 23 letters; one of which appears in a bound album of letters of tribute by several composers to Copland on the occasion of his seventieth birthday; Coolidge Collection, 1 letter; Koussevitzky Archive, approximately 50 letters; MacDowell Collection (from Mrs. S.H.H. Lopatnikoff to Marion MacDowell), 3 letters; Pisk Collection, 2 letters; Potts Collection, 1 letter; Schwerké Collection, 16 letters; Slonimsky Collection, 5 letters.

Arrangement is alphabetical by correspondent.
