Summary: Artur Schnabel was an Austrian-born American pianist, pedagogue, and composer. The collection chiefly consists of music manuscript scores of Schnabel's compositions. The manuscripts are all, with the exception of a single copyist's score, in Schnabel's hand, and represent his compositional essays in a variety of genres, from solo song (voice and piano) to symphonic works. The collection also contains an early published edition of Ludwig van Beethoven's sonatas for solo piano, containing copious annotations in Schnabel's hand, and on which he apparently based his 1935 edition of these works.

Related Material

The Library of Congress Music Division also holds the Mary Virginia Foreman Le Garrec Collection of Artur Schnabel Materials, donated to the Library in 1997 by Le Garrec, a student and confidante of Schnabel's. This collection includes published musical scores by Schnabel and by other composers, some of which contain annotations and performance indications in the hands of Schnabel, Le Garrec, and others. In addition, the collection contains Schnabel's correspondence with musical figures such as Clifford Curzon, Rudolf Firkušný and Le Garrec; and Le Garrec's correspondence with, among others, Pierre Fournier, René Liebowitz, Leopold Mannes, and Dmitri Mitropoulos. The collection also includes writings by both Schnabel and Le Garrec; concert programs featuring Schnabel as both pianist and composer; biographical material; press clippings, published articles, and monographs regarding Schnabel and his circle; books; and photographs and other iconography.

Biographical Note

Artur Schnabel was one of the greatest pianists and pedagogues in the history of musical performance. As a performer, Schnabel eschewed virtuosity in favor of musicianship – indeed, he considered himself a musician foremost, and the piano simply his creative medium – and his sound recordings consistently demonstrate interpretations of sensitivity, commitment, and distinction. He was one of the first pianists to champion new and unfamiliar repertoire (such as the piano sonatas of Franz Schubert), and the first pianist to record the complete sonatas and concerti of Ludwig van Beethoven. As a pedagogue, Schnabel is probably best known for his meticulously annotated performing edition of Beethoven's piano sonatas, through which countless pianists were introduced to these foundations of the piano repertoire; this edition is in common use even today. Lesser known are Schnabel's original musical compositions – his uncompromising atonal musical language continues to pose formidable challenges to performers, conductors and listeners – and his contribution to musical scholarship through his autobiography (My Life and Music, 1961), his two books on the role of music in the twentieth century (Reflections on Music, 1934 and Music and the Line of Most Resistance, 1942), and through the several articles he contributed to musical journals throughout his life.

Scope and Content Note

The Artur Schnabel Collection primarily consists of music manuscript scores of Schnabel's compositions. These thirty-seven manuscripts are all, with the exception of a single score in a copyist's hand (for the song "Dieses ist ein rechter Morgen," op. 11, no. 5), in Schnabel's hand, and represent his compositional essays in a variety of genres, from solo song (voice and piano) to symphonic works. In addition, the collection contains holograph manuscript scores of each of Schnabel's three symphonies.

The collection also includes an early published edition (Leipzig: Breitkopf und Härtel; undated) of Ludwig van Beethoven's sonatas for solo piano, containing copious annotations in Schnabel's hand, and on which he apparently based his renowned 1935 edition of these works. Over one hundred additional pages of notes relating to these works are also held in this collection.
