Biographical Note

Oliver Daniel was born Nov. 24, 1911, in De Pere, Wis. After graduating from St. Norbert College, he traveled abroad to Germany and the Netherlands to study piano. He continued his studies at the New England Conservatory in Boston, Mass., and made his debut as a concert pianist in 1935. He toured as a concert pianist from 1935 to 1942, and eventually branched out into teaching, conducting, and producing theatrical works. He taught at the Boston Conservatory from 1936 to 1938 and at Marot College in Conn. from 1939 to 1942. In 1942, Daniel was offered a position at CBS Radio as musical director of the education department, after his successful production of Christoph Gluck's Iphigenia in Tauris.

Daniel remained at CBS until 1954 where he produced broadcasts of the New York Philharmonic and Louisville Symphony, public service broadcasts, dramatic programs, documentaries, and interviews. He was responsible for many notable music programs, including 20th-Century Concert Hall, CBS School of the Air, Invitation of Music, in collaboration with Leopold Stokowski, The Music Room, and New Voices in Song. Daniel also worked briefly for ABC where he was responsible for producing concerts for the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Daniel's passion for music and fervor for promoting the work of American composers led him to play a vital role in several music organizations. He was coordinating manager and editor at the American Composers Alliance. In 1954, Daniel moved to Associated Music Publishers, a subsidiary of BMI, as director of contemporary-music projects, where he devoted his skill and energy to the promotion of the music of American composers. He held this position until his retirement in 1976. He co-founded Composers Recordings, Inc. with Otto Luening and Douglas Moore, in 1954. He also served on the board of directors at the American Music Center, from 1966-1978, and at the Charles Ives Society, from 1973-1983.

From 1957-1968, Daniel wrote a column about contemporary music recordings for the Saturday Review. He also contributed articles and reviews to Etude, Grove's Encyclopedia of Music, Musical America, Ovation, and Stereo Review. In 1982, Daniel published a biography of his friend and mentor Leopold Stokowski entitled Leopold Stokowski: A Counterpoint of View (Dodd, Mead). At the time of his death he was working on a biography of the Greek-American conductor Dimitri Mitropoulos. Daniel died in his sleep at his home in Scarsdale, N.Y., on Dec. 30, 1990.

Scope and Content Note

The Oliver Daniel (1911-1990) Papers span the years 1759 to 1997 with the bulk of the materials dating from 1943 to 1985. The collection includes correspondence, clippings, printed and manuscript music, photographs, programs, scrapbooks, and periodicals. There is also a significant amount of materials relating to the eighteenth-century American composer William Billings that Daniel compiled for a planned publication on Billings' life and work. The collection is divided into three main series: Subject File, Photographs, and Music. The Subject File is further divided into the following subseries: Clippings, Correspondence, Materials related to Music Compositions, Periodicals, Promotional Materials, Programs, Scrapbooks, and Writings.

The Correspondence contains letters, memoranda, greeting cards, and telegrams that Daniel sent to or received from prominent individuals in the world of music, and music organizations, with whom Daniel collaborated throughout his career. Correspondents include such musical luminaries as Henry Cowell, Alan Hovhaness, Charles Ives, and Dimitri Mitropoulos; and music organizations Broadcast Music, Inc., Contemporary Music Society, and the International Music Council. Other notable correspondents include Charles Schulz, John D. Rockefeller, Robert F. Kennedy, and Gloria Vanderbilt. The Writings include drafts, articles, radio program schedules, interviews, performance reviews, and biographical materials about composers. A large group of research materials, including notes; articles on the Amish, Moravians and the Shakers; publications; copies of letters; a genealogy; and excerpts from early American periodicals, relate to Daniels research into the life and work of William Billings. These materials also include draft chapters for the book William Billings: 1746-1800, which was to have been published in 1971. The Promotional Materials include pamphlets, flyers, and booklets that advertise performances or provide information on composers or musicians. Popular and esoteric music and arts magazines, journals, newsletters, gazettes and bulletins comprise the Periodicals subseries. The two Scrapbooks on Henry Cowell contain clippings and reviews dating from 1923 to 1931. Clippings and Programs round out the subseries.

There are approximately 500 Photographs in the collection. Most are posed or candid shots taken at conferences, receptions, live performances, in recording studios, and in private residences. In addition, there are portraits, promotional stills, and random photographs of objects and landscapes.

The Music series contains printed, manuscript, hardbound, and photocopied scores and parts. The largest segment of this series is comprised of works by William Billings, Henry Cowell, Lou Harrison, Ulysses Kay, Wallingford Riegger, and José Serebrier. Numerous scores are inscribed with affectionate messages to Daniel.
