Provenance

Transfer; LC Manuscript Division; 1998, 2010; (DLC/PP-1998:061, DLC/PP-2010:045).

Processing History

The collection was processed by Emma Esperon, Erin Ebert, Ellen Kays, Michelle An, Libby McKiernan, and Laurel Gassie in 2023. Finding aid encoded by Emma Esperon in November 2023.

Folder titles, negative call numbers, and frame numbers are devised by Library staff. Strips of film are grouped into an envelope by Library staff when multiple rolls or multiple partial rolls were originally stored together. When available, original contact sheets are annotated by Library staff with the corresponding negative call number. Some contact sheets will have multiple corresponding negative call numbers because the film strips were not originally stored together and remain in separate envelopes with separate call numbers. Images may also be duplicated across many contact sheets. An original contact sheet or printed reference copy of each negative or transparency is available in the collection.

Some of the color film in the collection exhibit signs of deterioration or color shifting. The printed reference copies presented in the collection are a reasonable reproduction of the color tones of the original film. No restoration or correction was applied to improve the depicted scene.

Transfers

Materials were transferred from the Manuscript Division to the Prints and Photographs Division. A large portion of the collection is still located in the Manuscript Division and can be identified as the Ralph Ellison papers, 1890-2005. An inventory of this material is available in their finding aid. More information about the division can be found at the Manuscript Division Homepage and Contact Page. Additional materials were transferred from the Manuscript Division to various divisions within the Library of Congress:

- Books and some artifacts were transferred to the Rare Book and Special Collections Division, where it is identified as the Ralph Ellison Personal Library and Ephemera. An inventory of this material is available in their finding aid.
- Audio and video recordings were transferred to the Motion Picture, Broadcasting and Recorded Sound Division, National Audio-Visual Conservation Center.
- Flute and sheet music were transferred to the Music Division.

Related Material at Other Repositories

While the Library of Congress is a primary repository of the writings and photographs of Ralph Ellison (1913-1994), many other repositories hold portions of his work. A few of these repositories include:

- Ralph Ellison Collection, 1938-1978. MS 249. Special Collections and Archives, University Library, University of California, Santa Cruz.
- Ralph Ellison Collection (Manuscript Collection MS-01309). Harry Ransom Center, The University of Texas at Austin.
- National Jazz Museum in Harlem holds his musical record collection and hosted an exhibit of them in 2014 called "Ralph Ellison: A Man and His Records."

Scope and Content Note

The collection features photographs by African American author and educator, Ralph Ellison, as well as images he created or collected. The collection contains a mix of formal portraits and snapshots of daily life. Images show the Ellison family, famed authors, artists, and civil rights activists, among others. Featured individuals include Ralph Ellison, his wife Fanny Ellison, Langston Hughes, Albert Murray, Ida Guggenheimer, Francis and Beatrice Steegmuller, and many more.

A large portion of the collection focuses on Ellison's time living in New York City, where he photographed city scenes with a focus on African American youth as well as views from his NYC apartment window of boats on the Hudson River. In addition to city snapshots, smaller portions of the collection focus on various speaking engagements, awards, events, and the public reception of his book Invisible Man. Photographs also show Ralph Ellison meeting President Lydon B. Johnson, his Presidential Medal of Freedom, as well as attending graduation ceremonies and receiving honorary degrees from Wake Forest University, Grinnell College, and Rutgers University.

Snapshots depict Ralph and Fanny Ellison's lives before meeting in New York City. They also feature Ralph Ellison's hometown Oklahoma City, Ralph Ellison's studies at Tuskegee Institute (ca. 1933-1936), Fanny Ellison with her mentor James Weldon Johnson, and Fanny Ellison's creating the Negro People's Theatre in Chicago, Illinois. Ralph and Fanny Ellison were lifelong supporters of the arts and theater. Ralph Ellison collected and displayed his art collection in his home, which is documented in many of the instant photographs (Polaroids). They were also avid gardeners at their Plainfield, Massachusetts house.

The photographs in this collection also document Ralph and Fanny Ellison's international vacations, which include trips to Austria, France, Italy, Japan, Mexico, and other countries. Ralph Ellison was a writer in residence at the American Academy in Rome, Italy (1955-1957) and recipient of the Rome Prize. He visited Tokyo, Japan as an American representative to the PEN International Congress of writers (1957).

The collection is primarily comprised of black and white and color photographs, including formal portraits, snapshots, photograph albums, contact sheets, and larger format photographic prints. Also included are color slides, clippings, postcards, drawings, and prints.
